About Rocky's Radio

Rocky's Radio is a proud South African family business established in June 1956. For over six decades, we've built our reputation on a solid foundation of honesty and exceptional service, becoming a trusted name in home entertainment and electronics.

What sets us apart is our commitment to quality and authenticity. From our earliest days, we've maintained a strict policy against selling "grey" or "parallel imported" goods. Why? Because these products lack factory guarantees, and spare parts availability cannot be assured. This principled approach has been instrumental in building customer confidence and delivering the reliable service our clients deserve.

Our longevity in this competitive industry speaks volumes about our dedication to customer satisfaction. Through technological revolutions and market changes, Rocky's Radio has remained a constant, adapting while staying true to our core values of integrity and excellence.
